

Franklin County Auditor Michael Stinziano took office on March 11, 2019. He received a bachelor's degree in leadership studies from the University of Richmond. Later, Michael earned a master's degree in public administration from George Washington University. He then graduated from The Ohio State University Moritz College of Law and became an attorney.

While serving as Franklin County Auditor, Michael has brought a broad range of innovations to the office using the guide points of connect, protect and reassess. He oversaw an efficient, accurate and equitable 2020 Triennial Update and a 2023 Reappraisal of all properties in the county, including commissioning a report by the Kirwan Institute on how to bring equality to the reappraisal process. He unveiled a Tax Incentive Hub that is a one-stop resource on every tax incentive in the county. And he has enhanced services using advanced technologies to make the office more accessible.

Michael calls on a wide range of experiences, from his prior service as the Director of the Board of Elections to a position with The House of Commons and British Parliament. From 2011 to 2016 Michael served in the Ohio General Assembly, and from 2016-2019 he was a member of Columbus City Council, where he was elected President Pro Tem in 2018. Michael is currently an Adjunct Law Professor at Capital Law School.

Gary Dwyer serves as Deputy Chief of Staff of Operations to the office of Franklin County Auditor Michael Stinziano. Gary first joined the Auditor's office as Director of Human Resources after nearly a decade of Human Resource leadership for the Ohio Secretary of State's Office; he holds the unique distinction of working through three separate administrations.

Gary specializes in technology integration, labor relations, and organizational development. A graduate of the University of Mount Union, he holds a Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration, specializing in Business Management and a touch of college football. He most recently earned his Certificate in Public and Nonprofit Leadership from the John Glenn College of Public Affairs at The Ohio State University.

Gary resides in Westerville with his wife, Jennifer, twin boys Drew and Gavin, and his (licensed) rescue dog, Cain.

Matthew Jackson serves as the Deputy Financial Officer at the Franklin County Auditor's Office. His team facilitates and monitors the fiscal operations of Franklin County Government throughout the year and develops the Annual Comprehensive Financial Report (ACFR). The fiscal team is also responsible for distributing real estate taxes and other local government funding streams, alongside administering the review and approval of local government budgets within Franklin County. Prior to joining the auditor's office in 2019, Matthew spent more than a decade managing the business and financial operations of a private company including contract management and federal regulations compliance. Matthew is a graduate of The Ohio State University Fisher College of Business.

Michaella Radich serves as Policy Manager for Franklin County Auditor Michael Stinziano. Previously, Michaella worked for the Franklin County Board of Commissioners and for the Ohio Association of County Behavioral Health Authorities, where she supported Ohio's Alcohol, Drug Addiction, and Mental Health Boards in the areas of policy, communications, and grants management. Michaella holds a Masters in Public Administration from Ohio State University's John Glenn College of Public Affairs and is currently pursuing a Juris Doctor from Capital University Law School as an evening student.
